Student Council to Sponsor Beach Party Oct. 20

Marquette Park Pavilion Scene of Student Outing

On October 20, the Student Council will sponsor a beach party at Marquette Park. Even though it is the end of fall, the party looks as if it will be a great success. The party will start at 7 p.m. at the park's pavilion, and there will be dancing and socializing. Students may go swimming if they dare to. Tentative plans find students having a cook-out on the beach, with students supplying their own food.

"We have been blessed with very fine weather," said Edward C. Latek, student council President, "so it should not be a detriment to the outcome of the party." Although a beach party in the middle of October may seem a bit unusual to some, Latek reports spirits are very high about the evening's activities.

Although the event was originally planned to be sponsored by the freshman class, the council was forced to accept the responsibilities when the frosh officers reported they would not be able to handle the program.

Jocelyn Kissela Elected President

The Fine Arts Club had its first meeting October 9, 1962. The purpose of this meeting was to elect officers for the coming school year. Nominated for President were: Mary Kay Mathieson and Jocelyn Kissela. Jocelyn won. Nominations for secretary included: Charlotte Lenzo, Christine Chandler, and Madeleine Frechette. Christine won. Treasurer nominees were Ted Wazynski, Madeleine Frechette, and Dennis Matusiak. Ted was elected.

Elected social chairman was Beth Groff. At this time a Planning Committee was also set up; it includes Madeleine Frechette, Jim Repko, Liz Szelestey, and Miss Viltis Vai-chunais. Chairman of the committee is Jim Repko.

At this time Miss Spuehler said that the Fine Arts Club is open to all students, not only the art majors, and she urges all to join.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN

The rule allowing cuts is not intended to afford opportunity for capricious skipping of class or for the extension of weekend trips or vacations. It is designed only—to permit valid absences for substantial reasons, such as the following: temporary physical indisposition (common colds, upset stomach, headache, sore throat, etc.); special family events such as reunions or anniversaries; attendance at the wedding or funeral of a friend or relative not of the immediate family; unexpected summons to work, committee meetings, teacher conventions, etc.; automobile breakdown. (from the student handbook)

These are not valid reasons, therefore, for seeking "excused" cuts from the Dean of Students.

Father Joseph Smolar,
Dean of Students

The Theatre Laboratory Class, taught by Mr. Denver Sasser, selected the play and held tryouts last September 21, 24, and 25. The cast includes Carol Blake, Madeleine Frechette, Mary Lou Kandalec, Sarah Regan, Rita Johnson, Dr. Richard Dean, Miss Lauri Spuehler, George Nissan, Mark Biel, Tom McCutchen and Jerry Bereik. The play is now in rehearsal.

John Patrick's "The Curious Savage" is one of the wackiest plays that St. Joe students will see in a long time. The things that happen in this play could only happen in a "nuthouse"—so that's where they placed the setting, in an asylum, euphemistically named The Cloister.

The permanent lodgers in this asylum, with their crazy antics and unrealized wisdom, are unforgettable. Each character—from Mrs. Paddy, who gave up electricity for Lent, to Hannibal, the statistician, who tried to invent something that could be "made for a dime, sold for a dollar, and was habit-forming"—manages to cause a chuckle, and sometimes draw a tear.

The play is to be staged November 17 and possibly the 18, which would be an innovation to this College. Previously, plays were given on one night during the weekend. Whiting Community Center provides the auditorium. Anyone interested in either lighting, stage work, make-up, or publicity, is asked to see Mr. Denver Sasser, the director.

St. Joseph's created the Theatre Laboratory Class just this fall. The Theatre Laboratory students are working with the cooperation of the Fine Arts Club, sponsored by Miss Spuehler.

MEET THE FACULTY

Mrs. Stiller Leaves Chicago City Junior College to Instruct at Center

Who is the new faculty member who just can't seem to stay away from the sand dunes? Why Mrs. Marion H. Stiller, English Instructor at St. Joseph's as of 1962. Born in Buffalo, New York (which, admittedly, doesn't have too much to do with sand dunes), she received her elementary education at Greenboro, North Carolina (which does have something to do with sand) and at St. Bernard's in Fitchburg, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Stiller, who was then Miss Holfelner, spent her high school years at Bexley High School, Bexley, Ohio and St. Mary's, Columbus, Ohio.

Not one to stay long in the same place, Mrs. Stiller's college education was received at Rosemont College, Rosemont, Pa., and Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, where she received her Bachelor of Science degree. She has also studied at the University of Buffalo, Buffalo, New York.

Mrs. Stiller

Mrs. Stiller did her graduate work at the University of Chicago, from which institution she has an M.A. in English. At Chicago Teachers' College she took additional work, chiefly in the field of children's literature. Unable to escape the inevitable (sand dunes, that is), she is now a resident of Chesterton, Indiana.

Mrs. Stiller, who holds a B.S. in English from Ohio State University and an M.A. in English from the University of Chicago, has been a teacher at the Chicago Latin School for Boys and at three Chicago area high schools. She has also been an instructor at Chicago City Junior College.

Next to English, of course, publication work ranks highest with Mrs. Stiller. She was publicity chairman at Jones Commercial High School and Newspaper sponsor in charge of all school publications. At the present time, Mrs. Stiller edits a small publication for Tertiaries.

We here at St. Joe's would like to take this opportunity to say that we sincerely hope that enough of that North Carolina "tar heel" tenacity rubbed off on Mrs. Stiller to keep her with us for a long time to come.

BEING SWORN INTO HIS OFFICE, Jerry Bercik officially accepts the duties and responsibilities of a class president. Between Bercik and Edward C. Latek is Robert Kearney, senior class president.

Hospital Happenings

One of the major events of Saint Mary Mercy Hospital School of Nursing took place Tuesday, Sept. 11, 1962, in the hospital auditorium. As in former years, each class of nurses received a blue stripe on their caps to signify one year of achievement. A striping ceremony was held during which time each student nurse received her cap with her stripe from Mrs. Riblon, director of the school of nursing. Miss Slamkowski assisted Mrs. Riblon. Following the ceremony refreshments were served and open house was held for all parents and friends of the nurses.

The student nurses of St. Mary Mercy Hospital recently made plans for the monthly Indiana Association of Student Nurses Meeting which was held Oct. 11, in the hospital cafeteria.

The meeting was attended by the nurses of Methodist, St. Margaret, and St. Mary Mercy Hospitals. The meetings are held to prepare the students for active participation in the professional graduate nursing organization and to promote closer social contacts and professional nursing unity among student nurses. The officers for the year 1962-63 are: President, Kathleen Davy, St. Margaret's; first vice-president, Loretta Radivan, St. Mary Mercy; second vice-president, Myra Somerson, Methodist; recording secretary, Janet Pastori, St. Mary Mercy; corresponding secretary, Pat O'Heir, St. Margaret's; and treasurer, Linda Coblenz, Methodist.

FEMININE FOOTWEAR HIGHLIGHT

Feminine footwear fashions focus on luxurious new leather textures to enhance deep autumn colors and sleek shoe shapes. Shoes remain slim in silhouette, though somewhat shortened at the front end, and lighter in appearance and weight, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

Popular styles—boots, pumps and strap shoes—depend on interesting finishes of smooth, suede, patent and reptile leather for fashion emphasis. In tailored shoes, soft suede and finely grained leather step out strongly. Reptile and patent are used in combination and as trim on tailored pumps and walking ties. Brushed leather and large grains are style leaders for flats and casuals.

Boots, which for several years have been growing in popularity, are easily the season's most interesting footwear fashion news. They run the gamut from high fashion boots in sleekly smooth, soft suede, gleaming patent and handsome reptile leathers, to casual country boots.

Ankle-skimming boot shoes, mid-calf and knee-high boots stand on thin shaped heels from mid to very tall heights. In casual boots, heels tend to be low and stacked.

Lower boots are lined in light smooth leathers, while the higher-reaching boots may have smooth leather or wool shearling linings.

Education Complemented By Extra Curricular Activities

by Jim Tobolski

Now that the school year is fully underway and studying has become routine, the students may find some time to participate in extra curricular activities. So this might be a good time to introduce to the new students and to remind the old students of the clubs and student organizations here at St. Joe's.

Commerce Club — President, Jim Smith; Vice-President, Tom Kuchta; Secretary, Ilona Werner; Treasurer, Pat Del Cotto.

The purpose of the club is to supplement class work in all areas of business and commerce. This is accomplished at the meeting through guest speakers and films. A field trip to a business establishment is taken by the club once a semester. This gives the student a chance to actually see the various phases of production that he so far has only read about.

The purpose of the council is to participate in the governing of the college matters of student affairs, to gain leadership experience in democratic procedures, and to promote the general welfare of the college.

Bowling Club — President, George Carter; Vice-President, Bob Kearney; Secretary - Treasurer, Vince Chiaro.

The purpose of the Bowling Club is to help the student maintain physical fitness and at the same time have fun. No one need to worry about being a poor bowler, the objective is merely enjoyment.

Phi Tau Alpha (Future Teachers) — President, Colleen Ward; Vice-President, Mary Kay Mathieson; Secretary, Narcine Sherpetosky; Treasurer, Nan Hedinger.

Their aim is to make better teachers of all those who are planning to go into the field of education.

Fine Arts Club — (officers to be elected)

The purpose of the club is to bring culture to the students of St. Joe.

On November 17, the Fine Arts Club will present "Curious Savage," a play directed by Mr. Denver Sasser, Instructor in English.

The purpose of the association is to sponsor athletic activities for the students of the Calumet Center. So far this year the main activity has been the Junior-Senior Vs. Freshman-Sophomore football game. Plans for the future include intramural basketball and baseball.

Delta Epsilon Sigma — This is the national honor society. Requirements for membership are: that an applicant must be at least a junior or senior with an accumulative index of 3.00. It is also open to alumni and faculty members.

SHAVINGS — Editor, Dan Lowry.

SHAVINGS is the official student newspaper published at St. Joseph's Calumet Center. The purpose of the SHAVINGS is to keep the faculty and student body up to date on the activities that are taking place around the Center.

Scholastic Committee — Chairman, Herman Jerry.

If anyone has any problems or complaints concerning their classes or teachers they can contact the committee. Also if there is a class that is not offered in the present semester and one would like it to be offered in the next semester they can contact the committee.

Adding to the pleasure of meeting other students, belonging to a club gives a member a vital spirit of belonging. The spirit is vital—not only for the individual—but for the welfare of the school, on the whole. Membership is open in all of the clubs and organizations, so join now.

Do You Remember?

by Robert Harris

TWO YEARS AGO

Bishop Grutka officiated at the formal opening ceremonies for St. Joseph's College Calumet Center on November 10.

The student council decided that each full time student should be required to pay a student activity fee. The exact amount would be determined later. Part-time students would pay half the amount.

The Athletic Association for the Center got underway. The first thing to be considered was an intramural basketball program.

The bookstore opened its doors for the first time on October 31.

Class presidents were Phil Seroczynski, juniors; Bob Jennings, sophomores; Harry Nowicki, freshmen.

On October 29, the Marian Theater Guild of Whiting commenced its season with "South Pacific" starring Mr. Bernard Qubeck and Margaret Frechette.

ONE YEAR AGO

Freshmen election concluded and the winners took their positions. Scott Boyett, president; Thomas Keen, vice-president; Narcine Sherpetowsky, secretary; Madeleine Frechette, treasurer.

Art Club met and elected officers. Jocelyn Kissela, president; Kathy Mullaney, secretary; Grace Kovach, treasurer; and Jim Repko, program chairman.

"Carousel" opened on October 29. Rev. Henry J. Martin, C.P.P.S., Director and Dean of the Calumet Center, conducted the orchestra.

Seymour Doolittle Says .

Then there's always Mr. Brinley

Let's face it—we haven't a ghost of a chance.

Note to Mr. Swanke's students always remember—Mr. Swanke is without a doubt, the most handsome, intelligent, witty member of the faculty.

Overheard in the halls! Mr. Federici, Dr. Banet, and Dr. Steven are giving tests on everything but history, English, and chemistry.

Now that those "nasty" tests are over, let's all go to the Halloween Dance. I'll be there and if you want to meet me, look for a person in costume.

I guess every practical joker has to learn when he has gone too far. Isn't that true Miss Kaminski? Next time you try and fool someone by telling them you're married don't wear that fake wedding band. It's pretty convincing!

At St. Joe's we believe in a congenial student-teacher relationship. But what about the marketing management class? We hear Mr. Lewin has a certain student, Richard Myers, who works for Blumenthal's Men's Store, one of Lewin's competitors. Do you really expect to pass this course, Rich? Well, don't worry, Mr. Lewin is a staunch believer in competition; he feels it's a good stimulus for progress.

I know the art students really take an active interest in their projects, but could there be such a thing as too much enthusiasm? The other day I was secretly watching Susan Gregorovich who was diligently working on her artistic endeavors and noticed that she had almost as much paint on herself as on her project. Since when has Miss Spuehler been teaching a course in how to paint yourself?

After a very thought provoking and enlightening lecture on the knowledge of God, Father Lubeley thoughtfully awaited questions from some of the theology students. Tom Kuchta raised his hand, with a puzzled look on his face. Father asked Tom what his problem was, and Tom—very seriously, asked Father if he could open the door to let fresh air in.

How To Keep Your Mental Health

(published in the April, 1959, issue of "INFORMATION")

1. TALK IT OUT. Don't bottle it up. Confide your worry to some level-headed person you trust. The talking-out process has enormous therapeutic value—relieves your strain, helps you see your way more clearly.

2. ESCAPE FOR A WHILE. Yes, a change helps—whether it's a change of activity, scene, or people. Lets you recover breath and balance. Remember to return to your difficulty when you're in better condition to cope with it.

3. WORK OFF YOUR ANGER. Let your "revenge" wait until tomorrow. Meanwhile work off your pent-up energy by cleaning house, carpentry, taking a long walk, doing something. It takes a cool head to handle a problem properly.

4. GIVE IN OCCASIONALLY. Frequent quarrels and feeling defiant the way frustrated children act. Giving in once in a while—even if you're dead right—is easier on your system. When you give in, often others do too.

5. DO SOMETHING FOR OTHERS. Doing something for somebody else is a wonderful way to stop worrying about yourself. Something positive and helpful and perhaps unexpected. You'll be surprised at how much better you feel.

6. TAKE ONE THING AT A TIME. Are you overwhelmed, perhaps picky, at the amount of work to be done? You can clear it up by tackling one thing at a time—starting with the most urgent. Forget about the others until you get to them.

7. GO EASY ON YOURSELF. Don't expect too much of yourself—you're no "superman." No one can be perfect in everything. Put honest effort into the things you do, and do the best you can. Be tolerant of your shortcomings.

8. GO EASY WITH YOUR CRITICISM. Don't expect too much of others. Don't try to fit them into a pre-conceived pattern. Instead of being critical, search out the other person's good points and help him to develop them.

9. GIVE THE OTHER FELLOW A BREAK. No need to "get there first," to edge the other fellow out—whether for promotion at the office, position on the highway. Go easy. If he feels you're no longer a threat to him, he'll stop being a threat to you.

10. MAKE YOURSELF AVAILABLE. Feel rejected, left out of things? Don't withdraw and sulk. Chances are that people are waiting for you to make the first move. Don't make all the overtures—but you'll be happier when you make some of them.

11. SCHEDULE YOUR RECREATION. Let up and relax. Realize that definite time for recreation and hobbies is just as important as definite times for work. Include recreation in your daily schedule and stick to it.

TEN SIGNS OF GOOD MENTAL HEALTH . . .

1. You have a tolerant, easy-going attitude toward yourself as well as others.

2. You have a realistic estimate of your own abilities—you neither underestimate nor overestimate them.

3. You respect yourself.

4. You are able to take life's disappointments in stride.

5. You like and trust other people, and expect others to feel the same about you.

6. You feel that you are part of a group, and have a sense of responsibility to your neighbors and fellow men.

7. You accept your responsibilities, and do something about your problems as they arise.

8. You are able to give love to others, and to consider their interests.

9. You are able to plan ahead, and to set realistic goals for yourself.

10. You put your best efforts into what you do, and get satisfaction out of it.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Kick Attends College On Company Scholarship

James Kick, junior class president, has been attending St. Joseph's College Calumet Center for three years. He regards St. Joe's as the best center in the Calumet Region. He states his reasons, "St. Joseph's is the only degree-granting college in the area. The nature of courses offered prepare a person for successfully entering the business world. The atmosphere is good and activities are always prevalent for the student. These are just a few of the many things I feel are lacking in the other centers."

Jim Kick

Jim is a person who enjoys meeting people and working with them. He likes to listen to the interesting backgrounds and opinions that people have to offer. He is currently attending St. Joseph's on a scholarship from the Jewel Food Company. As an employee of that company, Jim plans to tour the country this summer visiting different manufacturers and suppliers concerning the supermarket business.

After graduation Jim plans to work for two years and then attend graduate school and work toward a master's degree in management.

Activities are many on his schedule. As well as being a member of the Commerce Club, Jim is also chairman of the Athletics Committee. He participates in all sports but regards football as his favorite. He believes that physical fitness is something that should be attained by all.

The average college student to him is "an individual that attends school in order to learn, and develop his mind in certain areas. He goes to college in order to establish a foundation on which he can build his future life."

As a final comment Jim added, "I would like to thank the staff for the hard work they have done in bringing our school paper to its present position. They all deserve a pat on the back for the fine work they have done."

ARTOne of Few Madonnas In U.S. Displayed In Library

by Bernie Zenone

On the side panel of the first bookshelf in the library of St. Joseph College Calumet Center is this week's Painting of the Week, "The Alba Madonna." This masterpiece, by Raphael, is one of his few madonnas in the United States, and is claimed by the National Gallery of Art in Washington.

The artist, Raphael Santi, was born in Urbino, Italy and received his early training from his father, Giovanni Santi, who was himself a painter of some recognition. According to many art historians, Raphael studied with Timoteo Vita and, later, after moving to Florence, he imitated the techniques of such artists as Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, and Fra Bartolomeo. From these artists he captured the methods of representing the play of light and shade, anatomy and dramatic action. During his stay in Florence, he painted many madonnas, through which his development of style can be traced. In 1508 Raphael was commissioned by Pope Julius II to produce frescoes in four small rooms in the Vatican. His most famous work is the "Sistine Madonna," one of the most celebrated paintings in the world. It is not claimed by or dedicated to any nation or any creed, but belongs to the entire human race.

This week's Painting of the Week, "The Alba Madonna," expresses the greatest feelings of emotion ever possessed in the artist's lifetime, and is only matched by the smoothness of detail and the beauty of color which the artist has portrayed in it. Truly, the "Alba Madonna" is a masterpiece of masterpieces: a creation among creations.

14-2 VICTORY
OVER EVANSVILLE

St. Joseph handed Evansville its third consecutive defeat of the season here Saturday afternoon, 14-2, in an Indiana Collegiate Conference game.

Rensselaer is now 2-0 in the ICC and 2-1-1 overall. The Aces are 0-2 in the conference.

St. Joe's first tally was a peculiar one. Denny Anderson, who slanted off tackle, fumbled at the ½-yard line. Dick Schreiber, 6-5, 231 junior tackle, grabbed the ball in the air and dashed over for the TD.

The Pumas scored again in the second period on a 13-yard aerial from Denny Houlahan to Phil Zera. St. Joe had a third TD called back in the second quarter due to an off-side penalty. The nullified score was a 32-yard pass from Houlahan to Huck Quigley.

Commerce Club Recruits Members

Attention all students! Now is your chance to join the "Number 1" Commerce Club at St. Joe's. The Commerce Club will hold a membership drive beginning Oct. 22.

This club is the most active at St. Joseph's. Many activities are carried on by its members throughout the year. The club has already planned a field trip for this semester to Simmons Mattress Company. The purpose of this trip is to show members of the club one of the modern completely automated plants in the area.

All students who are interested are urged to join the club. There will be a table in the halls with the club members giving information about the Commerce Club and its purpose to any students who wish to join. Dues for membership in the Commerce Club is $1 per semester.
